BEEatrice the Bee Art Installation Promotes Ecosystem Awareness

This installation, created by artists Dems and Doll, draws attention to the importance of bees and how they play an integral part of our ecosystem and the health of our earth. Originally commissioned to exhibit May 2020 during the Canadian Tulip Festival, the installation was delayed due to the worldwide COVID-19 pandemic and ensuing State of Emergency lockdown.

“Being on lockdown challenged our creativity to use some household pieces to create the bee.”

“Being on lockdown challenged our creativity to use some household pieces to create the bee. We enjoyed this challenge as we often try to up-cycle found objects in our art. This provokes a connection and a nostalgia in the viewer, as well as giving life to something otherwise being thrown away. See if you can point out what was used”, Sarah Doll from the husband and wife artistic team of Dems and Doll. @Sarah.Doll.One

This installation is commissioned art by the Downtown Rideau Business Improvement Area (D.R.B.I.A.) as part of its public art program in Arts, Fashion & Theatre District.

LOCATION: The Underpass, SW corner of Rideau at Colonel By -- until October 31, 2020
